To our valued customers,

As the situation with coronavirus (COVID-19) continues to develop, our entire team is ready and standing by to support you. You rely on us every day for your appraisal needs, and we will continue to provide reliable access to the important services you count on.

Promoting health and safety for all is our highest priority. Nothing is more important than protecting our customers, staff, and those most vulnerable to coronavirus.

All SFREP employees have been advised to follow the recommendations issued by the CDC \(Center for Disease Control and Prevention\) to prevent the spread of coronavirus. Following those guidelines, our sales, technical, and development teams will work remotely while remaining focused on maintaining the standard of service for which you are accustomed.

We will do our part to be safe and we encourage all our appraiser friends to do the same. You may find the following links from the CDC helpful in your efforts to stay safe, especially while you're out in the field.
